A Statement From the Breeders of Your Puppy:

As responsible breeders, we do not want a puppy we produce to ever become a detriment to the community or itself. It is our responsibility to do everything possible to ensure that each puppy which we bring into this world remains an asset to the breed and to its owners. It is our genuine concern that this dog has a suitable environment and if for any reason a problem occurs, WE WANT TO KNOW. Our sincere belief is that a Labrador becomes a part of the family it joins and we want both the family and the dog to be happy. We will assist in any way we can to make the necessary adjustment with this new member of your family. Your puppy is from a carefully planned breeding and represents a responsibility on our part that will never end. We have been diligent in raising this puppy for the first weeks of its life to equip it to socialize readily into your environment. The rest is up to you, but we stand ready to help at any time. Please keep in touch with us. WE CARE VERY MUCH ABOUT THE FUTURE OF THIS PUPPY!

As is the usual practice with conscientious breeders, should "things not work out" and you feel that your lifestyle and the puppy are not compatible, please contact us immediately so that we can either help resolve the problem or arrange for the return of the puppy to us so that we may find a suitable home. We have found that this works best, since we normally have a waiting list for our puppies.
